November 2018

As the season has virtually come to an end, there is not a great deal to report.

The Breakfast Run to the Bocket Arms on a lovely morning was successful, as usual. During the years we have been using this venue, we have been paying quite a low price for what we get. Next year the price is likely to rise to £12 per head rather than the current £9. I have made a couple of other enquiries which would be a bit higher still, but it is really worth considering that nowhere else gives the option of porridge instead of cereal and smoked haddock and scrambled egg rather than full English. Anyway, I thought that regulars might like to bear these things in mind for next year, or maybe see what other options are around.

As usual, a few people went to Spares Day at Stoneleigh, and were very surprised how much more expensive things seem to be; reflecting the value of some of the cars presumably.

Eric was recently invited to the RAC Club with a friend, where a very good meal was enjoyed along with some interesting speakers. A talk on early motoring clothing ended with a fashion show of garments of the period.

After some fruitless searches, Brian Weedon has now become the proud owner of an XK150 DHC.

Several of our members found that the regular meeting at the Goat at Hertford Heath was much more pleasant, with the absence of American muscle cars. The new owners seem much more amenable, with bacon rolls and decent coffee available.

Don't forget, the next meeting is Mince Pie Night!
