January 2019

Our first meeting of the year saw seventeen people venture out on a January evening, which admittedly was not too cold. We welcomed a new member, John Redgrave from Loughton.

It was the first chance to mention our Christmas dinner at the Salisbury Arms in Hertford and it seems that people thought that the food was good but the room was very lacking in Christmas atmosphere.

The King and Tinker was very busy on the day after Boxing Day, where the EDVVS held their usual post Christmas get together.

The Goat at Hertford Heath was also very busy for the first gathering of the year.

The autojumble at the Whitewebbs Museum did very well, with about 550 people through the gate.

On 9th February there is a Rock and Roll Dance at the Museum from 7.30 till 11pm.

Beryl is looking into the possibility of a visit to the Studio 434 car collection, which now has very much larger premises than on the previous occasion when some of us went there.

I have just received an invitation from Tony Agombar (Area 33) to join them for lunch on Sunday 24th February at Little Hallingbury Mill, Bishops Stortford. Several of us enjoyed a meal with them last year. Can anybody who would like to go please let me know by the end of January, so that I can pass the numbers on to Tony.

I mentioned after our last Breakfast Run that the Bocket Arms needed to make a considerable increase to the price, which has been very reasonable over the years that we have been visiting in April and October. Before the next meeting, I will get a definite price and we can sort out a date if people are still in favour of going there.
